

FLIPPMI

Supporting the participation of migrant families in Flipped Learning

Project piloting session and capacity building

The FLIPPMI project aims to strengthen the participation of migrant families in Flipped Learning through Family Learning methods. To this end, we have been working, since February 2022, on the creation of various tools to equip future Intercultural Mediators in school contexts with the necessary resources to support this process and thus enhance communication between migrant families and the school community.

The project will begin piloting its results during the period from June to October 2023. The objective is to present the FLIPPMI tools to professionals working in the school context and/or with people with a migrant background in order to foster positive relationships between students, their families and the wider school community.

The project partners will spend a week in Greece to refine the FLIPPMI Online Campus and the Practical Activities Set on Flipped Learning in order to offer the best possible training to professionals. By participating in the piloting phase, professionals will be able to be the first to test the innovative FLIPPMI tools and help us improve our activities through their valuable feedback.
